

PSIE COURSE RE-SIT POLICY

BECAUSE EVERYONE'S JOURNEY IS UNIQUE

Course Re-sit Procedure

At the Professional Ski Instructors of Europe (PSIE), we appreciate that everyone's journey through the certification pathway is unique and that reaching the outcome standards for each certification level will vary from one individual to another. Therefore, we have created a procedure whereby students can - if necessary - re-sit the required elements in order to attain each level and reach each milestone.

Re-sit procedure for each level

Level 1 Professional Ski Instructor:

- Following the conclusion of the 4-day level 1 should a student NOT have reached the skiing outcome standards (but achieved the teaching outcomes) then they can take a 1-day technical re-sit after developing their skiing performance in line with their action plan.
- If the student has NOT reached the teaching outcome standards (but has reached the skiing standards) then they can take a 1-day teaching re-sit after developing their teaching in line with their action plan.
- If a student does not reach both the skiing and teaching outcome standards then they will be required to re-take the 4-day level 1 course at a later date.
- For gap year courses and internships 1-day resits can be organised prior to the Level 2 during days off from training. If an external trainer is required then the student will be liable for the trainer's daily fee plus expenses. Otherwise the re-sits can be organised in-house at the discretion of the licensed course provider.

Level 2 Professional Ski Instructor:

- The 6-day level 2 consists of 3-days skiing and 3-days teaching. Should a student NOT reach the outcome standards of either then they will need to re-sit the relevant 3-days on a future level 2 course.

Level 3 Professional Ski Instructor:

- The 3-day training/evaluation for the level 3 is a mixture of skiing and teaching following the previous 6-days of training (3-days skiing & 3-days teaching). Should a student NOT reach the required outcome standards during the 3-day evaluation they will need to re-sit the full 3-days of the L3 evaluation.
- Depending on their action plan a student is free to repeat the L3 training - skiing or teaching, or both, as part of their development.

Licensed Professional Trainer Certification (LPT):

- The LPT consists of 3-days training/evaluation. Should a student NOT reach the required outcome standards following the 3-days training/evaluation they will need to re-sit the full 3-days training/evaluation.

Level 4 Professional Ski Instructor:

- The level 4 consists of the 6-days Start Up Camp followed by 4-days Completion Camp. As with the L3 evaluation, the L4 Completion Camp is a mixture of skiing and teaching over the 4 days. Should a student NOT reach the required outcome standards following the 4-days Completion Camp then they will need to re-sit the full 4-days Completion Camp.
- Depending on their action plan a student may wish to attend the 2-days Top Up Camps for skiing and teaching as part of their development.
